REPEATED ROBBERIES IN THE

An Employee Suspected—Six Folloemen, on Whose Several Posts the Building was Buring the Time it Must Have Been Robbed, to Be Tried for Neglect of Buty. A week ago this morning, S. Ross & Son. manufacturers of trousers at 704 and 706 Broadway, reported to Acting Captain Groe of the Mercer street station that the loft which they occupy on the sixth floor of the building had been entered the night before, and $100 worth of trousers had been taken. They said that entrance to the loft had been effected by removing a large pane of glass in one of the doors leading from the hall to the loft. It needed but if the investigation on the part of the police to convince them that the robbery had been committed by some one familiar with the premises. Two days after the police had been notified, and while they were still working on the case, three other tenants of the building reported that they had been robbed, and Ross & Son reported that burglars had visited them a second time.

The second robberies were committed some time between the closing of the building on last Saturday afternoon and its opening Monday morning. The firms robbed were: J. M. Van Note, manufacturers of women's straw bats, who occupy part of the loft on the fourth floor; the Northwestern Straw Works, and Albert Rindskopf, dealer in leather goods. The latter firms share the fourth floor with Mr. Van Note. From Van Note a silk dress was stolen off a model, together with some Alpine hats, some desk furniture, including a gold and a silver penholder and a few other things. In addition to these articles the thieves stole a new spring overcoat, a pair of pajamas, and of trousers belonging to Mr. Stanley S. type of young Mr. Van Note was also taken. From Mr. William 3. Bennett, treasurer of the Northwestern Straw Works, the thieves stole 200 cigars, a briar pipe, the one that Mr. Bennett values most of all his eighty-seven. and two certificates of deposit, to the order of Mrs. William S. Bennett, for $500 each. From Rindskopf two Gladstone bags were taken. From Ross & Son. $150 worth more of trousers were taken and $18 or $20 worth of skein silk. Entrance to the two lofts was this time effected by breaking panes of glass in the doors leading to the halls.

When Mr. Bennett entered the building on Monday morning, before he knew he had been robbed, a man employed on the premises said robbed, a man employed on the premises said to him:

"He! he! Mr. Bennett. They stole your cigars, didn't they? They must have had a good sunday smoke."

When Mr. Bennett reached his office he saw that his desk had been pried open, and then he missed the articles mentioned. The desks of all the others had also been pried open. Mr. Bennett reported what had been said to him to the police, and the man who spoke to him is now under surveillance day and night. The safe of Mr. Van Note was robbed shortly after he became a tenant of the building, last December.

after he became a tenant of the building, last December.

His office had been in the Manhattan Savings Bank building, which was destroyed by fire on election night. His safe was injured by the fire and he bought a new one to take its place. Among the things he transferred from the old safe to the new were three jewel cases containing jeweiry that had been given to Mrs. Van Note on her wedding day.

Shertly after Mr. Van Note moved into the premises he occupies now the same employee who spoke to Mr. Bennett about the recent robber; said one morning to young Mr. Van Note:

"New safe you've got, Mr. Van Note. Does it open with a key?"

As was a you've got, and work poes it open with a key?"
"No," was the enswer.
"Open with a combination?"
"Yes."
"Anybody know the combination but you?"
"No."

"Anybody know the combination but you?"
"No."
"Yes, of course I can,"
"Yes, of course I can,"
"Yes, of course II? He' he!"

A few hours after that the safe was opened and the contents examined. Everything was intact, save the jewelry, and every piece of that was gone. It has not been recovered.

After the robbery became known on Monday morning, every one of those robbed, without consulting the other, suspected the same person. This suspicton was strengthened when, on Wednesday morning, the man said to Mr. Stanley Van Note:
"I saw by the paper this morning that you've offered a reward for your overcoat."

As a matter of fact, no reward had been offered. Mr. Van Note had spoken about It. His office boy heard the conversation and presumably told the suspected employee what Mr. Van Note was going to do. The man evidently took it for granted that Van Note had offered the reward.

The total value of everything taken, including the certificates of deposit, is about $2,000. As a result of the robbery, Acting Capt. Groon as preferred charges of needlect of duty against every policeman who was on post from 3:30 Saturday afternoon until 7 o'clock Monday

The men will be tried next Thursday. There are six in all, Groo has also reduced the length of the posts from six to three blocks along Breadway.

Lawyer H. J. Goldsmith got out a writ of habeas corpus for Wilson from Justice Andrews, on the ground that the Penal Code did not make it a crime to win money from a person. At the hearing Justice Andrews dismissed the writ, and Wilson was remanded to the custody of the police.

GREENWICH, Conn., July 2 .- Deputy Sheriff Fitzroy and George Sniffen, a local backman, engaged in a long chase over the railroad track n the brolling sun yesterday afternoon that hey will not forget soon. While the deputy of bicycla burglar-catching renown was sitting to his office yesterday afternoon his telephone The announcement that came through the 'phone was that a Betle Haven book had been buncoed out of money, and that the swindler was going down the railroad track. Officer Fitzroy and Sniffen started in pursuit. Coming up with a stranger, they told him that he was wanted, and at the same time Deputy Sheriff Fitzroy showed his shield,

He led them a good half mile, and then was He led them a good half mile, and then was only stopped by Officer Fitzroy's pistol being pointed at him. When he turned and saw the muzzle he fell, doubled himself up into a ball, and rolled down an embankment. Panting and heated, the pursuers rushed up, but, after talking with him, found that he was not the man they were after. He said that the reason he ran was that he supposed the two were tramps, and that they intended to rob him.

were tramps, and that they intended to rob him.

The cause of the exciting chase was the result of the operations at the Mayor Cottage, Belle Haven. He got into the good graces of the cook, and then produced several small parkages, some of which he said contained money, and requested the cook to puck out three. She complied, and each one she selected contained bills of the denominations of $1, $2, and $5.

"You're lucky," he said, "and as you are a poor working woman, it will give you a chance to make some money. I have nineteen of these packages, and every one contains money. If you will give me $10 you may have the packages, but you must not open them till 5 o'clock, when I will give me $10 you may have the packages, but you must not open them till 5 o'clock, when I will return. The credulous cook promptly complied. As the man was taking his departure flenry Eddy, who drives a market wagon for H. B. Marshall & Co., came into the kitchen, and the cook told him about her good fortune.

"You're swindled," he said, "Open one of the packages." It was with difficulty he could persuade the woman to do so. She soon discovered that she had been duped. The telephone was brought into requisition, and, although Deputy Sheriff Fitzrey acted promptly, he was not in time to catch the bunce man.

MURDERER GENTRY ILL.

He Has Not Recovered from His Collapse When He Was Convicted.

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.-The argument on the notion for a new trial in the case of James B. Gentry, who was convicted on Saturday last of the murder of Margaret W. Drysdale, was to have been made to-day before Judge Yerkes in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, but owing to the absence of Lawyer Charles Brooke of New York, senior counsel for the defence, it was ostponed until to-morrow. When the court opened, Attorney George F. Munce of this city, who is associated with Mr. Brooke, presented a telegram from the latter, which said that he was suffering from an affection of the eyes and could not be present. Mr. Brooke's eyes troubled him greatly during the trial. Judge Yerkes then continued the hearing of the argument until to-morrow. Mr. Munce went to New York to-day to consult with Mr. Brooke, with a view of going on with the argument without waiting for his associate's recovery. In case he should not feel prepared, however, it is probable that a further continuance will be granted.

Gentry, who collapsed when the jury returned a verdict of murder in the first degree, is seriously ill. Lawyer Munce said this afternoon:

"Gentry looks as though he were about to die, and I do not think he will last over ten or iffteen days if he continues to go down as rabidly as he has during the past week. Indeed, if I were to go to the prison to-day and learn that he had died I would not be surprised."

Dr. Butcher, the prison physician, ascribes Gentry's condition to the strain of the trial, but he does not consider it dangerous. Brooke, presented a telegram from the latter,

THE SEIZED FISHERMAN.

Good Prospects that the Frederick Geering, Jr., Will Escape Condemnation. HALIFAX, N. of the defence, and if she escapes condemnation there is no doubt the owners of the vessel will present to the Dominion Government a heavy bill for damages.

The testimony of the Captain and officers of the fishing cruiser Vigilant is to the effect that the Geering had caught her load of fish outside the three-mile line, and the evidence of the Captain and officers of the Aberdeen does not show she was really fishing at the time of the seizure, but that she was only taking her catch on board.

The evidence of the men on board one or two other fishing vessels which were near by is to be taken at Gloucester in a few days. The remaining witnesses are to be examined in behalf of the defence to bear out the contention that the Geering committed no violation of fishery regulations.

CANAD US TARIFF.

It Will Not Be Revised Until the Whole Subject Is Carefully Studied. TORONTO, July 2.- In a double-leaded editoria the Globe this morning says that it is at liberty to announce that the tariff will not be revised during the short summer session of Parliament, but will remain unaltered until the early parof next year, the intervening period being ocupled by a careful inquiry into the conditions of industry in all its branches, agriculture, manufacturing, &c. The Globe adds: "We may put out of the question the possibility of applying the principle of absolute free trade in Canada. We may also put out of the question the idea that the bringing of the tariff to a revenue basis means the destruction of every vestige of protection."

The delay in revising the tariff, the paper says, does not mean that the changes are to be trifling. The inquiry that is promised is to be full, thorough, and impartial, and will not be confined to protected interests, but will include farming, mining, lumbering, &c., as well as manufacturing interests.

SPAIN'S LATEST TROCHA.

SHE IS EXTENDING IT FORTY MILES ACROSS CUBA.

Building Forts at Short Intervals and Plant ing Torpodoes Between—Spain Hopes to Bother Gomes, but the Patriots Think That They Will Cross the Line Easily.

HAVANA, June 27 .- Although none of the military lines has been as yet a serious Linderance to the movements of the patriot forces. Gen. Weyler does not seem to be discouraged by it-On the contrary, the works at the central trochs from Moron to Jucaro, are being pushed, and the Captain-General expects this line to seriously interfere with the plans of Maximo Gomez. The new trochs will be about forty-one miles ong and is being laid out at a distance of sev enty yards from the military railroad which crosses that part of the island from north to south.

The forts will be two-story brick structures, intended to be fireproof, each having a watch tower, in which electric lights will be placed, so that all the space between the forts may be thoroughly inspected at night.

The defence of the line against any attack from the insurgents will not be confined to the forts. More than half the space between them will be covered with a treble line of torpedoes. irregularly placed, so as to make the passage of ven one person extremely risky, for the slightest shock or collision will cause the explosion of any of the torpedoes, and, according to the entheer in charge, their handling is so difficult that some accident is likely to occur when these terrible machines are placed or removed.

The Spanish have so much faith in this nethod of impeding the enemy that no ditches will be dug between the forts. This fact, the Spaniards expect, will make the sanitary conditions of the line much more favorable than at the other trochas, where the ditches are a constant source of sickness in the army.

The patriots do not show any alarm at the construction of this bulwark. They think that in the hands of their feeble enemies the trochs will be as worthless as all the other powerful elements which Spain has already used against hem. Fifty-two men, all well armed and munitioned.

Dr. S. Murata of the Japanese army sanitary corps is visiting the Majana trocha.

Sixteen soldlers and one sergeant have disappeared from the Pico Tuerto fort, Sancti Spiritus. There were five artillerymen in the party. As there has been no fighting in the neighborhood, it is supposed these men have gone over to the patriot ranks.

The death of the well-known lawyer, Francisco Varona Murias, has been confirmed. Varona was taken by surprise and killed by the local guerrillas of Lajas. His brother Julio has received in this city the watch and jewelry owned by Varona, and, having refused to say how he got them, has been imprisoned.

The news comes from Puerto Principe that Gen. Maximo Gomez has ordered the export of cattle from that province to Havana to be stopped. His forces have recently taken all the cattle ready for shipment in the neighborhood of Puerto Principe and Nuevitas, and on June 23 a few milk, fruit, wood, and grass peddirs were detained by a patriot patrol and taken before the Commander-in-Chief. They were warned not to take again into the city anything except fruit and wood.

Salvador Castroverde, a Major in the patriot forces under Gen. Aguirre, came to this city yesterday and called on several very prominent persons, whose names cannot be mentioned. He will sail for New York to-day on board the steamer Orizaba, charged, it is said, with an important miesion.

PUG SNIPPIE DISAPPEARS. General Police Alarm for Park Commis-sioner Woodruff's Little Pet.

A general alarm was sent out from Police Headquarters in Brooklyn last night over the disappearance of Snipple, a little black-faced pug dog belonging to Park Commissioner Timothy L. Woodruff of 70 Eighth avenue. The name and residence of the owner are engraved on the silver plate on the collar. Mr. Woodruff and his wife left the house at 716 o'clock yesterday morning for the country and Snipple is supposed to have slipped off while the baggage was being placed in the coach. At all events there was no further trace of him after Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff had gone. An hour or so clapsed before the dog was missed, and a search through the neighborhood proving unavailing, the butler re-borhood proving unavailing, the butler reported the loss to the poice of the Bergen street station. Last night, when no tidings had been received, it was decided to send out a general alarm.

Shipple was greatly attached to his master and mistress, who reciprocated his affections, and it is surmised that he may have followed the coach until he got tired out and dropped behind. There is another theory which somewhat relieves the anxiety of the butler, and this is that Shipple may have been taken aboard the coach and is now starding the country air with his owner. The dog had a full set of harness on, and also a bow of blue ribbon. A liberal reward is assured the finder, who will restore Shipple to his pleasent home on the Park slope.

JOE PATCHEN'S EASY VICTORY.

The Black Horse Romps Away from John R. Gentry at Washington Park.

CHICAGO, July 2.-The match race between John R. Gentry, 2:0316, and Joe Patchen, 2:04, proved to be something of a fizzle at Washington Park to-day. Patchen drew the pole for the try. It might have been a close race to the wire had Andrews been able to hold Gentry on his feet, but at the eighth pole he broke, and l'atchen simply cantered in the easiest of winners. Gentry seemed to be greatly distressed after the heat, and when it came to scoring with the big black fellow soon afterward it was plainly Patchen's day. The latter had a neck the better of the send-off in the second heat, and he never relinquished the lead. Gentry again broke at the eighth pole and allowed Patchen to romp in again. The crowd was plainly disappointed at the comparative walk-over. Gentry was so distressed at the finish that he could scarcely move.

The other events were uneventful and the racing medicere. Letell and Baroness Marguerite collided in the third heat of the Novelty trot, and only good luck saved a bad accident. A Drawn Came Between the Haverfordians

WINCHESTER, England, July 2.- The Haverford College cricket team concluded its game here to-day with Winchester College, the result being an even draw after a stubborn battle. In the second inning the "Wykehamists" ran up a big score, and declared their inning closed, with four wickets down. There was not time left for the Haverfordians to make the runs. and profiting by the example set at Shrewsbury they played for a draw, and succeeded in holding up their wickets until call of time.

The game was again interrupted by rain, and the showery weather helped to keep the attendance down: but there was a fair crowd present, the interest excited by the good play of the young Americans being very great. Before the team arrived here it was thought that the visitors would prove to be a second-rate combination, and that the home players would have little difficulty in defeating them. The Americans, however, have shown the teams here that they are foemen worthy of their steel, and each match is played with all the enthusiasm of an

Adams and J. H. Scattergood were quickly disposed of, the slow bowling of A. L. Gibson proving fatal. L. H. Wood and A. F. Coca made a short stand, however, and inter, C. G. Tatnall kept company with Coca, who exhibited remarkable patience in a most useful contribution of eighteen not out, the ninth wicket putting on thirty runs. A. Hames did not stay long, and the inning was over for 119.

J. T. Weatherby and F. Noel opened the second inning of Winchester, and the latter's wicket quickly fell. A. L. Gibson joined Weatherby, and before the latter was bowled by Miffiln forty appeared on the telegraph. R. L. G. Irving soon retired, but on Lee joining Gibson a great stand was made. The batsmen scored rapidly from all the changes of bowling tried by the Haveford captain, and plenty of leather chasing was offered to the visitors. Both men hit hard and vigorously, and before Lee was bowled by Mifflin for forty-nine, the total had advanced to over the 100 mark. R. A. Williams then kept Gibson company until it was decided to declare the inning closed with the total at 170. Gibson gave a fine exhibition of free hitting, combined with solid defence in his inning of seventy-four, not out. His average was 114 for the match.

of seventy-four, not out. His average was 114 for the match.

The Haverford players went in for their second attempt, and, as there was not sufficient time left to get the runs, the men were instructed to play for a draw. Howson and Wistar were quickly disposed of. On Adams and Lester getting together the game assumed a different aspect. Both men played steadily and well, and when Adams was caught by Hunter, off Lee, the game was safe. A. F. Cook then stayed with Lester until the call of time, when the score had advanced to 05 for three wickets. Lester again proved his claim to be considered a first-class batsman by a good steady inning of 34.

The visitors will rest to-morrow. They will spend the Fourth at Rugby, where the great public school associated with "Tom Brown's Schooldays" will give to the visitors their fourth match. The score of the Winchester game full.

YALE HAS MORE TROUBLE.

THE MEN TRY TO PRACTISE IN A POORLY RIGGED BOAT.

Measurements Left Behind at New Haven -Four Members of the American Crew Race with the Henley Boat Club's Four Over Half the Course-The Yale Men Win

Special Cable Instructed to Tite Str. London, July 2.-The Yale crew spent the day in trying to get the new boat rigged properly. The measurements were forgotten at New Haven, and this fact caused much trouble. Capt. Treadway to-day received the most potent charm that Ya'e ever carried on the water. It is the left hind foot of a rabbit killed in a graveyard. It was carried by Fritz Olmstead in the victorious boats of '92, '93, and '94. Fritz sent the charm to Coxswain Clarke with his best wishes, saying that it has never failed to win. Clarke will wear it over his heart in the race.

The Dutch crew withdrew from the Grand Challenge Cup race to-day. Coach Close advised First Trinity to do the same, but the men refused, thinking they can defeat Trin-ity Hall. Yale's garden party was crowded. It was a great success.

Henley, July 2.—Mr. Ellington, the rowing expert of the Field, informs the United Press that the statement that Guy Nickails has left the crew of the Leander Rowing Club is absolutely untrue.

The Yale men were out in their new boat this morning, and in a stretch of a minute's duration covered haif a length less than the New College crew did in the same time yesterday, when the latter went 127 feet beyond the minute barrier. The Baliol and Trinity Hall second crews both rowed over the same water in their minute dashes, and each did about the same as Yale. Capt. Treadway says he likes the boat, but dislikes the rigging. The weights of the crew to-day were:

Clarke, coxswait, 115; Langford, stroke, 177; Treadway, 7, 177; Longacre, 6, 184; Balley, 5, 189; Rodgers, 4, 182; Board, 3, 183; Brown, 2, 105; Simpson, bow, 154.

This makes an average of 169 pounds. When

This makes an average of 169 pounds. When the men salled from New York the average weight was a small fraction over 107; Dounds, Five pounds of the added weight has been taken on by Clarke, the coxswain.

At half past 60 clock this evening Yale's new shell, its rigging having been overhauled, was again placed in the water, and the crew went out to take their usual practice. It was found that the rigging was still wrong and the boat was pulled back to the boat house, where for ther work in the line of putting it in suitable condition was done. Later the crew made six short stretches with the Leander crew from the Fawley Court boat house to the finish of the course, covering the distance in three minutes and a half.

The New College and Trinity Hall crews were out and rowed the same distance, but their times were not taken. They apparently were taking their practice easily.

The Yale men gave a garden party this afternoon at the Marsi Mills House, their headquarters, in recognition of the many courtesles that have been extended to them since their arrival here. Among the English guests were all the crows entered for the trand Challenge Cup, the trophy which the Americans seek to take back to the United States with them. Mrs. Henry Clews, wife of the New York banker, and Miss Clews and a number of Americans were also present. The Duke and the Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt of New York, were invited to attend, but they found it impossible, owing to the fact that they had a prior engagement.

The guests were received by Mrs. Simmons, wife of the New York banker, and Miss Clews and a number of Americans were also provent. The Lucker of the Regatta Committee.

The weather was cool. There was a shower during the afternoon, but it was a light one and did no more than temporarily interrupt the party. T

are naturally puzzled and so far the training bulletins have thrown little light on the point. With the map of Henley course printed in THE SUN of last Monday as a guide the solution is easy. On the Berkshire or right bank of the Thames there is a towpath from which most of the coaching is done. The path is not a thorough fare all the year round and traffle is limited by two turnstiles, one about a hundred yards above Regatta Island and the other about one sixth of the course or 400 vards higher up the stream. These stiles are the barriers referred to in the daily bulletins of the Yale and other crews in training for the Grand Challenge cup. Any crew starting abreast of the first barrier and reaching the other in a minute generally receives credit for having more than average speed, while the combination which succeeds in getting a few lengths further before the one minute expires is supposed to have an exceptional chance of showing winning speed over the entire course. When crews reach such an advanced stage of training that the coaches are satisfied as to the endurance of their reasering charges the shief coarties. reach such an advanced stage of training that the concless are satisfied as to the endurance of their respective charges the chief question becomes one of relative speed. Hence the nop-ularity of the "barrier" trial as a gauge of the best speed and highest stroke a crew is capable of developing.

THE HORSESHOE HARBOR REGATTA. They Rad a Fine Breeze and 25 Fact Yachts Took Part.

The Horseshoe Harbor Yacht Club of Larchmont, whose pretty little house is located in the cove west of the Larchmont Yacht Club's big summer home, held a lively regatta on the Sound yesterday, in which twenty-five of the astest small boats in the vicinity of New York took part. The club, which is composed of the

The rocky cliffs at this point form a sort of marine grand stand, with the whole Sound laid open before it. As the hour for the start approached, the rocks, summer houses, and other vantage points were seized by hundreds of pretty girls, who lay around in picturesque confusion eagerly awaiting the signal. While there was a goodly firet of half-raters, including the Ideal, Hope, Paprika, Kittle V., and Microbe, only the Asahi, Vaquero III., Hera, and Departure turned up among the 30-footers, Something went wrong on the Hera, and she with-drew early in the first round. This left only three boats, and, as usual, Bayard Thayer's Asahi carried off the honors, beating the Vaquero III. nearly three minutes.

Among the half-raters Arthur Iselin won a clever victory with the Hope, the Paprika being second and the Ideal third. There seemed to be
